OCTOBER 2017 NEWSLETTER

WORLD COMMUNION SUNDAY

"All who eat and drink without discerning the body, eat and drink judgment against themselves." (I Cor. 11:29)

The first Sunday in October is designated as World Communion Sunday, which celebrates our oneness in Christ with all our brothers and sisters around the world. Paul tells us that we are to "discern the body" when we partake of Holy Communion, mindful that we note our relationship to all our brothers and sisters in Christ in the celebration. One is not to go hungry while another is drunk! (I Cor. 11:21). This is scandalous behavior opposed to the Way of Christ. Thus it is appropriate that World Communion Sunday is also a time when we receive the annual Peace and Global Witness Offering as a way of continuing the ancient Christian practice of sharing what we have with brothers and sisters in need.

Please submit your prayer requests on Sunday morning during the first hymn or via telephone to the office at 989 793-0125.

Donate your time generously - there are many things you could do to help at Countryside Trinity Church. Here are a few examples: The Annual Holiday Bazaar is coming up November 4th. Do you have any craft items to donate? Or, are you available to help set up, tear down, or work at the event? There is a sign-up sheet on the Bulletin Board in Fellowship Hall. We are also looking for donations for the Bake Sale. Or, perhaps you would like to help around the grounds. Check with Ed Halase to see what you can do to help him. Give freely of your time and talents.

Sunday mornings in October

Dear Friends in Christ,

I want to thank you for the warm welcome I have received in my first month of serving as your Interim Pastor. It seems like this newsletter article may be a good tool to help me introduce myself to many of you. This month will mark 33 years since my date of ordination as a minister of Word and Sacrament within the Presbyterian Church (USA). Countryside Trinity has the unique place as the 12th church I have served since ordination. The first 12 years of my ministry consisted of serving as a called pastor in 3 different locations, and then upon my wife Rhonda's ordination to ministry, I have spent my time in various interim and transitional ministry settings. I feel called to Interim Ministry as it fits my gifts and skills and in many ways my personality. I find great satisfaction in working with Sessions, congregations and Pastor Nominating Committees in the process of planning and celebrating the glorious future that God has planned for them. I look forward to meeting and talking with many of you regarding your future hope for your personal ministry and the future ministry of the Countryside Trinity church.

Here are some personal points of interest regarding your new Interim Pastor. If you haven't already heard it, there is still some of my New Jersey accent in my voice, as I am a born and bred Garden Stater. As stated earlier, my wife Rhonda is a pastor, and is currently serving as the pastor of the Chapel Lane Presbyterian church in Midland. It was here call to that position that brought us here from New Jersey. We have been living in Freeland for the past 6 years and have enjoyed it very much. Our only sadness, as regards the move, is that we have three grown sons who still live in various parts of New Jersey. Our oldest son, Matt, works in social media marketing for an insurance company in New York City. (Continued on Page 3)

Bible Study

A six week video Bible study will begin on Thursday evening, October 5, at 6 pm. We will be using "The Call: the life and message of the Apostle Paul" by Methodist pastor Adam Hamilton. Rev. Hamilton has the wonderful ability to present Biblical insights that will speak to those who have been to many a Bible study and to those for whom this may be their first one. Please come and join us.

Book Study

On Wednesday afternoon, October 11, at 1 pm a new book study will begin on Debbie Irving's book "Waking Up White, and Finding Myself in the Story of Race." This book was recommended to the church by the co-moderators of the General Assembly of the PCUSA. The cost of the book is $17.99 and there will be a sign-up sheet available at coffee hour for those who are interested. The book is a timely one as the necessity of discussion on the issue of race is possibly the most important discussion facing us in our time. See you there.

(Continued from Page 2) Middle son, Joshua, is a high school English teacher in the city of Newark, N.J. where he also lives. Benjamin, the youngest, works in retail while searching for a position in communications. A little over 3 years ago, Matt and his wife Kristin were blessed to have a son, Thatcher, who is the apple in his grandfather's eye and who I thoroughly enjoy every moment I am with him. Much of my extended family also resides in New Jersey.

Some final thoughts, being from New Jersey where the first college football game was played, it should be noted that I have no particular college football team to root for come the fall, so I will not take sides regarding which college football team I root for in Michigan. I like to play music and am generally excited when exploring art in all its various medium, be it music, dance, visual or simply spoken. I am an avid poetry fan particularly the word of Wendell Berry. I love to listen to bluegrass music, and pluck on a banjo now and then. My new found passion is upscaling or flipping old materials into things that are useful and I hope pleasing to the eye.

Well now that I have shared a bit of myself with all of you, it is my hope that over the next few weeks and months you will take the opportunity to get to know each of you better. I rejoice that our Lord has brought us together for "such a time as this" (Esther).

Peace,

Pastor Dave

Please Note

Whenever you enter the church during normal business hours, please be sure to notify Pastor Dave and/or Kathy Loviska (if they are in their offices) that you are in the building. Thanks.

Saginaw County CROP Hunger Walk

The CROP Walk will take place on Sunday, October 8. This year the walkers will be collecting donations – no pledges. Checks should be made out to CROP. 25% of the collection is shared by Hidden Harvest, The Rescue Mission, Samaritas (Neighborhood House) and the East Side Soup Kitchen. An anonymous donor will donate $1,500 if we give 10% more. Our church raised $635 last year so we would need to add $64 to that amount for $699. Let's try for at least $700! So far our team of walkers are Kathy Loviska, Aubree and Ainslee Mahan and Marcia Lacker. See Marcia if you want to walk. Kathy can help you set up an account to receive online donations. $1 donation can buy $10 of groceries at a Foodbank. To sign up for the walk see Marcia Lacker. She can be contacted via telephone at 799-0895.

Getting to Know You Mary Longstreth

Interviewed by Gwen Henderson on August 25, 2017

Mary Longstreth came to us from Midland, MI in 2000. This was a great blessing for this church because Mary has become a very active member.

Growing up, Mary's family consisted of her parents and herself and two brothers. Growing up, Mary was the only girl among her first cousins. Mary has one child, a daughter, Cary Lyn, who is a teacher currently working in Hawaii. Mary says the birth of her daughter was the most rewarding experience of her life.

Cats have always given Mary much joy. She owned two cats that each lived to be 14 years of age. Unfortunately both cats have since passed away.

After being a "Friend of the Church" at Countryside Trinity and being inspired by the friendliness of our members, Mary decided to join the church.

Since joining, Mary has served on the Long Range Planning Committee and is currently serving as a member of the Evangelism Committee. Mary is always ready to assist whenever and wherever she is needed.

Travel is a favorite hobby of Mary's and while a trip to Italy was much enjoyed, she is now looking forward to traveling to Hawaii to spend time with her daughter, Cary Lyn.

Mary worked for twelve years as a Social Worker. She was a supervisor during her career in this profession and following a disability, was forced to terminate her job.

Currently, Mary enjoys helping out at the church, gardening, going to movies and traveling when she is able.

Thank you, Mary, for being part of the Countryside Trinity family. Your service and dedication is greatly appreciated.

Mission

The missions of the month are Peace and the Underground Railroad. The Presbyterian Church receives a Peace and Global Witness offering. They encourage our congregation to retain 25% of our donation to participate in a program that encourages peace. The Mission Committee has chosen the Underground Railroad as the recipient of our monies.

The United Church of Christ receives an offering for Neighbors in Need. One third of their funds supports American Indians. There are 20 UCC congregations on reservations and one urban multi-tribe congregation in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Both denominations support peace making and justice programs here and abroad.

Without justice, there can be no peace.

The Underground Railroad provides a safe haven for victims of domestic violence.

They have a Crisis Helpline, Restorative Counseling, Civil Legal Services, Preventative Education and a resale shop at 5647 State Street. We will have a box in Fellowship Hall for donations of items they need. There will be a posted list of items.

Women's News

Tuesday 9/26 the UCC Covenant North Women will meet at Countryside Trinity at 9:30 a.m. Registration is $6. Lunch will be served. The speaker will be Camille Nitschky who heads the Children's Grief Center in Midland. The center is expanding their services to Saginaw soon. Communion will be served.

Saturday 10/14 the Lake Huron Presbyterian Women will meet. Details were in the September Newsletter.

Saturday 11/11 Aspire will present an evening just for women at Saginaw First Assembly of God.

Details on these meetings are posted on the bulletin board in Fellowship Hall.

YOUR SESSION COUNCIL AT WORK

Tidbits of information from Session/Council meeting of September 19, 2017, that you may find helpful:

Opening: Pastor Dave opened the meeting with a scripture reading and asking "How is your soul today?" as a moment of reflection. He encouraged elders to ask themselves this question every day.

Clerk's Report: Church membership is now 103 with the removal of 13 inactive members from the rolls. NOTE: The Presbyterian "Book of Order" states that "the session may delete names from the roll of the congregation when a member so requests, or has moved or otherwise ceased to participate actively in the work and worship of the congregation for a period of two years."

Pastor's Report: Pastor Dave gave an update on Evon Little and Barbara Klein. His request to proceed with a Bible study from "The Call: the Life and Message of the Apostle Paul" was granted. He is planning a book study from the book "Waking Up White...." for interested family and friends of the church as well as community members. Vacation was approved for Thanksgiving time so that he could travel to New Jersey to be with family.

Denominational Reports: Pastor Dave gave a brief report of the actions at Presbytery meeting in Midland on September 12, 2017. Rev. Denise Anderson, co moderator of General Assembly presented the sermon for the day and also was guest speaker at the meeting. "Very, very interesting," according to the church's elder commissioner who attended. One thing of importance which was approved was a Disaster Plan Guide for Presbytery and which the churches are encouraged to develop for their congregations.

Finance & Stewardship: Mari and committee members will be working on the 2018 budget.

Christian Education: Grants to update classroom and educational equipment are to be explored.

Long Range Planning Committee: This committee will not be dissolved yet but will be used to follow up on the mission study and also to assist the Pastor Nominating Committee in filling out the Ministry Information Form in the search for a new pastor.

Mission: Kitty reported the following mission monies collected and sent to the various missions:

Good Neighbor Mission $35.00, June; Emmaus House $100.00, July; Pentecost Sunday collection to Presbytery and UCC $116.50 each; and Rescue Mission $30.00, August. Motion was sustained to set aside room for the backpack program, if needed, since the school has limited space.

Personnel: Motion sustained to hire Kathy Loviska as Administrative Assistant. Motion sustained to draw up contracts for all paid staff for the following year and a conflict of interest policy which will be signed by all paid staff and Session members. Motion sustained that no church staff member be allowed to serve on the PNC (Pastor Nominating Committee). (It is like hiring your own boss).

Worship: Darren reported that the order of worship will change slightly and that the "passing of the peace" will be instituted into the service. Hand sanitizer will be available.

Women's Association: Kathy Loviska reported that she has six applications for space at the Bazaar so far.

New Business: Motion sustained to request from Presbytery's Committee on Ministry that Countryside elect a PNC (Pastor Nominating Committee), if the way be clear. Motion sustained that the PNC will consist of five people, one from the session and four from the congregation. Motion sustained that the Session will compile the slate of members for the PNC for congregational approval.

Submitted for your information,
Mary Ann Parker, Clerk of Session

Winterize Your Home

Winterizing your home makes your place more energy efficient so you can keep your family warm and toasty without breaking the bank on energy bills. In addition to making your house more energy efficient, winterizing your home also entails doing small chores that will help prevent damage to your home from snow and ice.

It doesn't take much to get your home ready for Old Man Winter. A single weekend is all you need to properly winterize your home. Below, are several things you can do to ensure you have a warm, safe house this winter and money left in your pocket for holiday shopping.

Winterizing Ideas

1. Call an HVAC professional to inspect your furnace. Before you turn on that furnace for the first time this winter, have an HVAC professional come check it out and give it a tune-up. They'll make sure your furnace is running efficiently and safely. During a furnace inspection the HVAC will likely do the following:

- Do a safety check for carbon monoxide
- Clean and replace air filters
- Check blower operation
- Clean motor and fan
- Inspect gas piping to furnace

A furnace inspection will set you back $100 or more, but the energy savings and your family's safety is well worth the investment. You might get the bad news that you need to replace the entire furnace. If that's the case, take advantage of federal tax credits for new furnaces, which cover 30% of the cost, up to $1,500.

2. Have the HVAC guy clean and inspect heating ducts. While the HVAC man is at your house inspecting your furnace, have him do the same to your heating ducts. Studies have shown that up to 60% of heated air escapes from ducts before making it to the vents. That's a lot of money leaking out of your pocket. The HVAC guy can check for any leaks in your air duct system and then take steps to seal them.

3. Trim any nearby trees. If you have any tree branches hanging near your roof, windows, or driveways, trim them back. Snow and ice will weigh them down and possibly cause them to break.

4. Reverse ceiling fans. Most people don't know that you can use your fans during the winter to keep your house warm. On every ceiling fan there's a switch that allows you to reverse the direction of the blades. Switch it so your ceiling fan rotates clockwise. That will push warm air down and force it to recirculate throughout the room. Don't forget to make the switch again when it starts to warm up!

5. Block air leaks. According to the U.S. Department of Energy, drafts can waste 5% to 30% of your energy use. To find those leaks use the Black and Decker Thermal Leak Detector. You're likely to find drafts underneath doors and near windows. If you find a leak underneath your door put a draft snake across the bottom of it. A simple rolled up bath towel will work. If you have leaks near your windows, get some weather-resistant caulk and caulk them from the outside. You can use weather stripping as well. Other places you might want to check for leaks are where pipes and wires exit your foundation.

6. Winterize the A/C. You're probably not going to be using your air conditioner during the winter, so taking some steps to protect it during this time can extend the life of your machine. Winterizing your A/C is easy. Drain any pipes or hoses coming from your air conditioner. You don't want them freezing during the winter months. Also make sure to vacuum out any pools of water you have in the A/C's drain pan. Another step you can take is to cover your central air unit with a plastic air conditioner cover. The cover will keep water and snow out of the unit and prevent rusting.

7. Replace your furnace filter regularly. Regularly change your furnace's filters throughout the winter. A dirty filter impedes air flow, reduces efficiency, and could even cause a fire in an extreme case. You might consider replacing your disposable filters with reusable electrostatic or electronic ones. You just have to give them a monthly wash, and they're good to go another round.

8. Install storm doors and windows. Storm doors and windows can increase energy efficiency in your home by 45%. You install storm doors and windows on the outside of your regular doors and windows. Federal tax credits are available to help offset the cost of purchasing them.

9. Check your insulation. Simply adding more fiberglass insulation in your attic can boost the energy efficiency in your home. You need a minimum of 12 inches of insulation in your attic. If your insulation falls short, just add another layer of the pink or yellow itchy stuff. If you're adding new insulation to your current insulation, make sure the new insulation doesn't have a paper-backing. The paper acts as a vapor barrier and can cause problems for you down the road.

10. Wrap your pipes. Insulating your pipes reduces heat loss and can raise hot water temperatures delivered through your pipes, which allows you to reduce the heat on your boiler. That will save you money on your gas bill. And by making your pipes energy efficient, you also don't have to wait as long for hot water when you turn on the shower, which helps conserve water and time. Wrapping your pipes with insulation will also help prevent your pipes from freezing during those long cold nights. You can get pre-slit pipe foam at the hardware store. Simply cut the foam to the length you need, wrap it around the pipe, and fasten it in place with duct tape.

11. Check smoke and carbon monoxide detectors. Winter sees an uptick in the number of home fires and cases of carbon monoxide poisoning because people are running their furnaces and boilers overtime in order to keep warm. To keep your family safe, check the batteries on your smoke and carbon monoxide detectors and change them if needed.

12. Prepare a 72 hour kit. In the event of a bad storm and the possibility of losing power, it may be a good idea to have a 72-hour kit stocked with food, water, and other supplies. You can buy pre-made 72-hour kits online or at most camping and outdoor stores. Better yet, save some money by making your own 72-hour kit.

13. Get your chimney inspected. Before you start roasting chestnuts on an open fire, have a certified chimney sweep inspect and clean your chimney. Thousands of fires each winter originate in chimneys. A chimney sweep can check the structure of your flue and remove any combustibles or obstructions in your chimney. For more information on finding a chimney sweep, visit the Chimney Safety Institute of America's website at csia.org.

14. Wear a warm sweater. One of the easiest ways to lower your energy bill is to harness your inner Jimmy Carter by putting on a sweater while you're in the house. A heavy sweater adds about 4 degrees of warmth to your body. If you set your thermostat to 68 degrees and wear a sweater, your abode will feel like a balmy 72. Nice!

15. Clean your gutters. Clogged gutters can lead to the formation of ice dams on your roof. Ice dams occur when water backs up and freezes near the edge of the roof. The ice continues to build up and eventually forms "dams" that block the path of melted snow from your roof. Water starts pooling in mini reservoirs and begins to seep into your house, causing water damage. To prevent ice dams, clean out the dead leaves and other gunk in your gutters so water can drain freely.
